

Drobot ready to watch the world go by

Things are going to slow down quite a bit for St. Paul MLA John Drobot after the June 15 provincial election.

After 11 years as MLA, Drobot is trading his seat in legislature to sit on the back porch with his wife Gladys at their cozy Stoney Lake home.

"I'm going to watch the cows graze on the hillside," Drobot said. "Watch the saddle horses switch at flies in the corral and see the mist rising on the lake. I'm going to watch the world go by."

It's that down-home attitude that helped Drobot get elected for three terms beginning in 1982. He was re-elected in 1986 and 1989.

He learned during his first campaign that the key to provincial politics was to be himself.

Premier Peter Lougheed was coming to St. Paul in 1982 to give Drobot some tips on how to run his campaign. Drobot was met by one of Lougheed's aides who advised him that maybe he shouldn't be wearing cowboy boots.

"So I bought a pair of Oxfords for $70 at Ray's Men's Wear and went to meet the premier," Drobot said with a laugh. "He said just be yourself and don't mention government programs."

"The first thing that flashed through my mind was 'I just spent $70 on a pair of shoes I'll never wear again.'"

Cowboy boots in the Legislature

"I've worn my cowboy boots in legislature ever since."

He also learned a long time ago that the best way to get things done was to use "a back door approach" when confronting a minister.

"Have a cup of coffee with him and tell him that 'Hey, that road to St. Brides to St. Paul should be re-paved.'"

"Then a week or two later ask if anything's happened about that."

He added the most enjoyable aspect of being an MLA was being able to get things done for his constituents.

He's lent a hand in the recent expansion of the Elk Point Hospital, the building of the St. Paul Municipal Library, and many others. But the project he most fondly remembers is "convincing the powers that be that the $6-million court house should be built in St. Paul rather than Vegreville."

Though there were several rewards to being St. Paul's MLA, there were a few pitfalls as well.

"My family got a bit short-changed," Drobot said, adding that he missed a lot of watching his daughters, Elena, 19, and Leanne, 22, grow up.

There were other downsides to legislature as well -

Town proceeds on runway extension

Elk Point Town Council made their long delayed decision to commit a $17,500 share toward the extension of the runway at Elk Point Municipal Airport. Further discussion of the ramifications of the extended runway preceded the decision, but the positive effects on economic development outweighed the possible additional cost to the Town in operation and upkeep. A review of the user fee schedule will be undertaken to try and offset the anticipated extra costs.

Problems with broken windows at the Community Services Centre should be alleviated in the near future. When the glass is replaced, it and other windows will be covered with expanded metal mesh. This was determined to be much more reasonable than replacing the glass with unbreakable plexiglass.

A new Building Permit Bylaw was brought to Council for their consideration. The new bylaw is designed to replace and streamline a number of bylaws which amended the original building permit bylaw for specific purposes. Council moved to table the proposed bylaw for further study before giving it first reading.

Council accepted the resignation of Mrs. Marguerite Friesen from the Elk Point Public Library Board.

The tax sale of two parcels of property in Elk Point has been moved back to August 25 from July 8 to conform to the Alberta Gazette publishing requirements.

A seminar regarding matters including the new environmental act and health and safety regulations will be attended by Town Administrator Curt Svendsen and either the chairperson of the Safety Committee or the Utilities Committee.

Town Council agreed to the challenge put forth by the Town of St. Paul for an inter-town slowpitch game to mark Canada's Fitweek. The game will be taking place this afternoon, June 1 at 5 p.m. in St. Paul.

Forty one residential property owners have filed appeals on their property assessments, and will appear at the June 2 sitting of the Court of Revision. Three commercial appeals had been filed, but have since been withdrawn.

Elk Point romps at track meet

Running a successful track team is elementary in Elk Point.

That's Elk Point Elementary School.

For the 15 time in 16 years, Elk Point Elementary won the County of St. Paul Elementary County Cup, finishing with 376 points. Ashmont was second with 219 points and Mallaig was third with a 171 points.

Elk Point had six of the eight medallion winners as Jasmine Brown won F Girls; Megan McMillan, E Girls; Erica Nielsen, D Girls; Amanda Boorse, C Girls.

 Bassett won medallions for Elk Point in the F Boys and D Boys, respectively.
 Ashmont's Clint Lapatack won the C boys. His team-mate, James Thompson, took home the E boys' medallion.

 Elk Point coach Rob Boyd said his team has a strong worth ethic throughout practises in phys ed classes.

 "They worked really hard in practice and they had a lot of fun," Boyd said. "And they were able to stay focused during the meet."

 like sitting through monotonous speeches.
 "Oh sure, some of them are boring," he said. "They'll go on for half-an-hour on something I could say in five minutes."
 But he found a way to pass the time when some politician ramble on and on.
 He writes poems. In fact, during the John Drobot Roast Thursday in St. Paul, he was presented with a booklet of his poems by fellow MLA Tom Musgrove.
 Drobot's family is trying to persuade him to have a book of his poems published.
 But he's in no rush to have that done. He'll be too busy sitting on his back porch watching the world go by.

COACHING RECOGNITION AWARD - Ron Dunlop, Coach of Elk Point Midget Thunder, was presented with a medal and certificate from the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association by Doug Callbeck, Elk Point Minor Hockey President. Dunlop was nominated for the Coaching Recognition Award by Elk Point Minor Hockey. He has coached minor hockey since 1978 in Elk Point and other communities and is certified under the National Coaching Certificate Program. Criteria for the award include respect for officials, opponents and parents, concern for all around development of athletes, application of relevant training theories and coaching practices, and demonstration of proven capacity to improve his team's athletic performance. Congratulations to a very deserving coach who attributes his success to the teamwork among the Thunder coaching staff.

What's Happening At COMMUNITY SERVICES

SENIORS WEEK PROCLAIMED - Community Services Director Terri Ehler (left) and Pioneer Circle Society President Lillian Palinka visited the May 25 meeting of Elk Point Town Council to witness the proclamation by Mayor Ed Buck of June 6 to 12 as Seniors Week in Elk Point.

SENIORS WEEK

Everyone is invited to take part in the festivities and events that have been planned for Seniors Week, June 6 to 12.

The week begins with a Community Church Service at Heritage Lodge on Sunday, June 6 at 11 a.m., followed by a 'beef on a bun' dinner and entertainment.

On Monday, June 7, you're invited to the Monday Night Bingo at the Seniors Recreation Centre.

Tuesday, June 8 has the Pioneer Circle Society General Meeting at 2 p.m. at the Seniors Recreation Centre.

Get your dancing shoes on for the Wednesday, June 9 music and dancing at the Seniors Recreation Centre beginning at 8 p.m.

No events are planned for Thursday, June 10, so that's a day for seniors to enjoy in their own special ways.

Highlight of the week is the 20th Anniversary Banquet at the Seniors Recreation Centre on Friday June 11. Members and guests will gather to celebrate the 20th Anniversary of the formation of the Pioneer Circle Society in Elk Point. A banquet, spiritual messages, a history of the group, entertainment, recognition of boards and members, anniversary cake and more are on the agenda. Tickets are available from Lillian Palinka 724-4182, Hazel Hannah, 724-3897, Irene Miller, 724-4174, Florence Demchuk, 724-3023, Violet McFadyen, 724-3884, Olga Ruzycki, 724-3547, Muriel Holthe, 724-3837, until June 8.

JACK AND JILL PLAYSCHOOL

Jack and Jill Playschool is a program for 3 1/2 to 5 year olds. The first class will start Thursday, September 16, 1993. There are still some available spaces in the afternoon sessions, which run Tuesdays and Thursdays from 12:30 to 3:00 p.m. If you would like more information regarding the program, please phone Community Services at 724-3800.

NO FUNDS FOR COMMUNITY CALENDAR

Sorry, we are unable to run the Community Calendar this month due to a lack of sponsorship. If sponsors are found, we hope to resume running this handy guide to events and activities in the future.

STUCK IN THE SADDLE AGAIN -- There were no holds barred when retiring MLA John Drobot was roasted at the Centennial Senior Citizens' Club Thursday. The horse-loving Drobot was strapped down to his saddle to make sure he didn't fall off. Though he was roasted, he wasn't bitter, as he took it all in good fun.

Ode to the cowboy MLA

There once was a fella from Stoney Lake
Who from riding and haying some time he'd take
To help out his neighbors and have his say
On the County Council, if the voters said Yea.
That they did, and for two decades and more
He handled County concerns by the dozen and score,
Got roads built and gravelled and graded and plowed
And saw schools get bigger and better endowed.
There was still time for ranching and raising cows,
Between going to meetings and settling rows,
Time to ride his horse and enjoy family life
With his two growing daughters and his lovely wife.
Then came the day when someone spoke the thought:
"Run for MLA, John, you'd be good, and you ought."
Others joined in, he was soon in the race
And in the fall of '92 he led a merry chase.
Election night he was hoisted on high
And "Congratulations!" was the hearty cry.
He spent nine years in the hallowed halls
Of Provincial Legislature, springs and falls,
When he may have wished he were back on the range,
For city life and politics were a very big change.
He did his best, and filled all our needs,
Hospital, lodges, bridges were among his deeds.
Now it's time to give someone else a turn,
And to his Stoney Lake rangeland to return.
We wish him the best in his retirement years,
And bid him thanks with the heartiest cheers.
Thanks, John!

V.E.B.

Back to the cowboy life

John Drobot
MLA and Cowboy Poet

When I was a young man and in my prime
I worked real hard all the time
Now I'm older with more sense
I won't mow lawn or fix fence
I'm past the age of pitching bales
I go out riding on quiet trails.

I don't brand calves or pitch hay
Just ride my horse day after day
Trails I ride, no creeks to cross
Just jog along on my old hoss
No baler to fix or prime no pumps
I won't dig post holes or pull stumps.

I don't plow sod or put up hay
Just sit in the saddle day after day
Don't sleep on the ground, snakes I dread
I sleep at home in my water bed.
Some of you still in your prime
Are scared of being caught by Father Time
I'm here to tell you it ain't all bad
Just turn page back to the fun you had
I've had my share of wrecks and spills
It's good to relax and ride the hills
I exercise by playing horseshoe
But there are some things I want to do
I won't rush, just take my time
And do it from the back of that horse of mine
I don't want any of your city thrills
Cause I love riding in those Stoney Lake hills.

Lindbergh, my home

Roma Sundquist Hatchard
Contributed by Bud Long

Lindbergh has streams and forests and also hills so very tall.
Its people hear the hills and their strange enticing call.
The forests and the valleys,
they are so wild and free,
They, too, listen for the call and every leaf and tree.
They feel vibrating in the wind,
a wilderness so vast
The ancient call returns again,
the present and the past.
The whole north country listens,
it listens for the call,
And the people of Lindbergh,
they hear it, one and all -
What is it this call means to them?
I say I truly know
Because I lived there once -

such a long, long time ago.
It means the North Saskatchewan River
as it ripples and it sings.
It means the summer days and soaring hawks on wings -
It means the fragments of a cloud, upon the valley floor -
It means, put on the coffee!!
there's neighbors at the door.
It means haying in the fields
under the skies so blue,
It means "I'm home, Lindbergh!"
I have come home to you.
I am kin to all you folks,
I hear the sand hills call,
It gives me energy intense,
It starts us walking tall.
It gives me joyous spirits and fills me with great love
To hear my Lindbergh calling
Beneath the stars above.
I love you, Lindbergh.

MINOR HOCKEY, AG SOCIETY WORK HAND IN HAND - Minor Hockey Association President Doug Callbeck presented Elk Point Agricultural Society President Glenn Harms with a cheque for $12,150 toward the Ag Society's capital debt paydown on the fairgrounds, arena and tennis courts. The funds were raised partly by hosting the Provincial Midget C Hockey Tournament and partly by the community's involvement in minor hockey.

From the Forts

Piano students perform in recital

Thirty four students of local piano teachers Hildegunde Naber and Deanna Easthope entertained a packed crowd of parents, grandparents and friends Sunday at their year end Piano Recital.

The students ranged in age from kindergarten to high school students, and presented selections which grew in skill requirements from nursery songs such as Yankee Doodle to classics such as the William Tell Overture.

Composers and styles of music varied greatly also, from Beethoven, Bach and Schumann to Bryan Adams, from country and western, to German, French, Negro and American Indian folksongs, to gospel favorites. All were well performed and much enjoyed by the audience.

The finale of the afternoon was an excellent duet by the two teachers, whose talents obviously lie in performing as well as teaching. The two thanked the parents "for sending us your children to have their talents developed," and offered appreciation to the students for the work they have done over the year.

The students performing on Sunday were, in order of school grade level, Valerie Friesen, Michael Mahon, Taryn Shankowski, Kristyn Ballas, Kyle Sommerville, Tasha Yopyk, Heather Krissa, Geoffrey Kreek, Tracy Longpre, Kirsty Lindquist, Trevor Frankiw, Michelle Friesen, Leanne Wilson, Alec Richard, Monica Naber, Nicole Sommerville, Carson Mutch, Elena Kreek, Lindsey Klein, Leanne Longpre, Dorielle Richard, Melanie Johnson, Calen Mutch, Matthew Ibach, Aileen Harper, Taralee Babenek, Ben Peterson, Chantelle Maas, Cristin Oszust, Kevin Frankiw, Rachel Peterson, Nadia Wentworth, Dorothea Naber and Kelly Oszust. Four other students, Sheryl Gadwa, Claudia Naber, Patricia Keichinger and Robin Schade, were unable to be present for Sunday's performance.

OFF TO A GOOD START - Kristyn Ballas entertained with "Old MacDonald Had A Farm" and "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star" at Sunday's piano recital.

TEACHERS PERFORM - Hildegunde Naber (left) and Deanna Easthope played a polished duet at the Piano Recital, while Dorothea Naber turned the pages.

TWICE AS NICE - Four hands make twice as much music, as Matthew Ibach and Aileen Harper play a tuneful duet.

Choral society spring concert

Elk Point and District Choral Society neared the end of another fulfilled season with their Spring Concert last Wednesday and Thursday in Elk Point. The large and melodious group has performed at events from Smoky Lake to Bonnyville to Vermilion, and will be performing at the opening of the new RCMP Station in St. Paul before they adjourn for the summer. They will also be cutting their first recording in June, with release of the album in early autumn.

The Spring Concert opened with five numbers from the Society as a whole, beginning with a cheery "Here We Are!" accompanied by Barb Buryn, "A Choral Benediction" and the Anne Murray hit, "Daydream Believer." "Everything I Do" from the movie 'Robin Hood,' and a rousing "I Hear A Song" wound up the first set.

Laurie Keichinger offered a pensive vocal solo, "Tears In Heaven," accompanied by herself on piano. In an abrupt change of mood, Charlie Thompson, in plaid shirt and big boots, offered the sad but funny story of "The Frozen Logger," accompanied by John Bennett on piano. A charming unaccompanied duet rendition of "Are The Roses Not Blooming" was offered by Debbie Lawrence and Mathilda Furger.

The entire group was then back on stage for the Society's Bicentennial hit song, "The Voyageur's Song," featuring solos by buckskin clad Udo Mueller and accordion accompaniment by Gabe Bayduza. The group went back to the 1960s with the Everley Brothers' "Let It Be Me," then fast forward to the 1990s for a comic routine spoofing answering machines in "After Beeps." The inspirational "I Have A Dream," and a performance of "The Rose" by the ladies of the group completed the first half of the concert.

Choral Society Director Don Buryn turned soloist to open the second portion, with a moving song from 'Les Miserables,' entitled "Bring Him Home," accompanied by sister-in-law Barb Buryn.

The humorous highlight of the concert was a visit from 'The Backwoods Boys,' a group of overalled and rubber booted old codgers from such farflung spots as Ferguson Flats, Norway Valley and Shemrock Valley, who strummed a washtub base, rattled the spoons, put wooden spoon to washboard and played a mean accordion in accompaniment to some old-time favorites, "Wabash Cannonball," "The Old Norwegian Waltz" and "There Is A Tavern In The Town."

The mother-daughter duo of Mabel Gottenbos and Barb Buryn offered a moving "Wind Beneath My Wings," accompanied by Linda Peters. They were followed by a jazz sextet, Mathilda Furger, Emily Mueller, Sheri Johnson, Udo Mueller, Randal Kryns and Don Buryn, with "I Love A Rainy Night."

"River Song," accompanied by Linda Peters, a jazz rendition of "A Song Between Friends" and a swinging "Side By Side," accompanied by Barb Buryn, the movie theme from "Beauty And The Beast," accompanied by Deanna Easthope, and an unaccompanied "Irish Blessing" by the entire society wound up the program. A tumultuous ovation brought them back with the always popular "The Musicians" as an encore.

A special feature of the concert was the presentation of the first ever Choir Bursaries. A $200 bursary went to Curtis Chwyl, a Grade 5 student at Glen Avon School in St. Paul, while an equal amount will go to Jennifer Green of Prairie High School. The bursaries go to students who will be pursuing further musical studies either during the summer or in their coming school year.

Diane Wolanuk was Mistress of Ceremonies for the concert. Accompaniment, other than as noted, was by Deanna Easthope, while Christina Sereda served as Page Turner and Stewart Peterson handled the lighting.

FIFTY THREE VOICES STRONG - Elk Point and District Choral Society presented two evenings of excellent musical entertainment to packed crowds at the Seniors Recreation Centre last Wednesday and Thursday evenings. The Society's fame is spreading far and wide, and everyone is looking forward to the release of their first recording in the near future.

It's your health care system

Your health care system is about to change - a "fundamental re-structure" say the politicians.

What does that mean?

Well, it really means finding cost-effective ways to do more with less. One good way is to focus on low-tech, low cost care that helps people avoid high-cost medical treatment.

Preventative care — helping people stay healthy — is a good way to reduce strain on the medical system. And, it saves money in the long run.

We're Alberta's Chiropractors, and we're working hard to make sure that your health care system is changed for the better.

We believe that with a focus on preventative, cost-effective health care, Albertans — and Alberta's economic future — will be healthier in the long run.

If you want to talk to us about Alberta's health care system, we're ready to listen.

Elk Point Tennis Club

Tennis Club meetings are the place where the goals of our club are set, issues are discussed, opinions are heard, and policies are established. The Elk Point Tennis Club would be nothing without the support of all of its members, and we strive to meet the wants and needs of the members. At a Tennis Club meeting, you, the member, can have a large impact on the decisions made about the future of our young tennis club.

Our next Tennis Club meeting is Monday, June 7 at 7:00 p.m. at F.G. Miller High School. Meetings are usually held in Room 5 (just north of the office) and meetings usually last between 30 and 45 minutes. I invite all members to come to the monthly meeting.

Tennis Tip

I've had many parents ask me what kind of tennis racket they should buy for their child. The answer to this question depends largely on your child.

If your child is just learning to play tennis and considers the sport an interesting pastime, I would recommend two different options. One option I would recommend is a cheaper racket, between $15 and $35. Wilson and The Players' Edge have a number of rackets in this price range, and Home Hardware in Elk Point may carry the model you are interested in. The second option I would recommend is not buying one at all, but instead using the Tennis Club's rackets. Our rackets are quite good and the cost of a tennis membership and all the lessons they can handle ($15) is far cheaper than most rackets on the market. Also, as I'm sure you know, many children's interests may change quickly, and I see no point in buying an $80 racket if they rarely play.

If your child loves the sport and you feel that they may play the sport for some time to come, I might recommend a slightly more expensive racket, between $50 and $100. The brand Prince would be my first choice, with Wilson, Yonex and Head also making some quality rackets in this price range.

The fact that we live with electricity shouldn't come as a shock.

Electricity is a fact of life. In fact, it's so much a part of everyday life that people forget the potential for accidents. Contact with overhead power lines or exposed wires can cause serious injury. Even faulty household appliances and electrical plugs can deliver enough current to kill an adult. Understanding how electricity works can keep you, and those close to you, safe. When it comes to electricity, what you don't know can hurt you. For more information on electrical safety, call your local Alberta Power office.

Wrinkles visits playschool

Diane Fraess and her puppet, Wrinkles, went over to the Community Services Centre to entertain two classes of Playschool children at their year end party on Thursday, May 27. Wrinkles had the hiccups and several ways were suggested by the children to help him stop. The Little Red Riding Hood puppet also told her story of what happened with the Big Bad Wolf. We would like to thank Gayle Fakeley for inviting us to their party. We enjoyed ourselves very much.

The answer to last week's question, "what year were women in Alberta granted the provincial vote?" is 1916. More information on the vote for women can be found in the book The Best of Alberta History by Hugh Dempsey, on Page 166 under the title "The Votes For Women Movement" by Paul Voisey.

Just a reminder that one of our services to the public is the use of an in-house typewriter for that resume or letter you would like to type.

New Books

Just arrived in the juvenile section are five more books from the collection of the Babysitters Little Sisters Series by Ann Martin: Karen's Little Sister, Karen's Birthday, Karen's Haircut, Karen's Grandmothers and Karen's In Love.

Come and take out the book Dr. Kane of the Arctic Seas by Pierre Burton. This is one of the series of Adventures in Canadian History, Exploring the Frozen North by Canadian authors.

Interested in learning to draw? We have the following five books on how to draw for the beginner: How To Draw Forest Animals, How To Draw Dogs, How To Draw Flowers, How To Draw Farm Animals and How To Draw Horses.

Just when you thought you were alone, along comes Where Angels Walk by Joan Wester Anderson. In this heartwarming, spine tingling, true account, people in a time of need found themselves in the loving presence of Beings who led them out of threatening darkness and into the light of hope.

Just arrived in our music cassette collection are the following: Use Your Illusion 1 and 2 by Guns N'Roses, Pure Country by George Strait, Keep The Faith by Bon Jovi and Hot No. 1 Country Hits.

Here's a movie for the whole family to watch: The Black Stallion, starring Mickey Rooney, Kelly Reno and Teri Garr. Be the first to take this video out!

COMMUNITY SERVICES NEWS

According to surveys, most people feel they have less free time than they once did. Do we really have less leisure time? Are we working more and harder than we used to - or less?

Surprisingly, there is no consensus among experts about how much leisure time we have. Part of the problem is the uncertain definition about what constitutes "work." (Does it include time spent socializing in the workplace, traveling to work, or after-hour thinking about work?) And what is "leisure time?" (Walking the dog, training for sports, household chores, volunteer activities?)

Leisure is sometimes defined as "time one can spend as one pleases" - a highly subjective concept. For some of us that means doing nothing, for others it means pursuing challenging endeavors. Take exercise, for example: if you walk or cycle out of a sense of duty, is that leisure? Is the laborious pursuit of a hobby leisure? One person's work - for instance, mowing the lawn - may be another's form of relaxation. One person's chore - shopping at the mall, carpentry, or jogging - can be someone else's pleasure. For some people, free time is less enjoyable and more stressful than work.

CONFLICTING RESEARCH

It is hard to get an accurate measure of leisure time. It's far easier to count hours at the workplace than "free" hours. Surveys that have used questionnaires to measure free time have tended to be inaccurate - in part because leisure time activities are generally not memorable and are done for irregular periods. People may also underestimate their leisure time because they feel guilty about what may be seen as idleness. One thing is for certain: television viewing has been taking up more and more time - now averaging 15 hours a week.

Though there's much disagreement about recent trends in work and leisure, no one disputes the fact that, on average, we have more leisure time than people did 100 years ago. For instance, legislation shortening the work week to 40 hours went into effect only in 1940. In particular, women spend less time doing housework than they did at the turn of the century, thanks to smaller families and time saving appliances, and older people have more years of leisure time, thanks to earlier retirement and greater life expectancy.

WHAT'S THE PROBLEM? Still, people today feel harried and short of time.

Making time for yourself

This is nothing new - we have always complained about it, and probably always will. As with other forms of stress, people react to the pressure in unpredictable ways. For many, the time crunch is imposed by conditions beyond their control. Some people, for instance, simply can't afford leisure and single parents are certainly likely to have limited free time.

However, other people, to a large extent, choose to stay very busy. They may do volunteer work or train for several sports - and thrive on the challenge and pressure. This sense of control over events, rather than the number of hours at work or at play, may determine the effect of this stress on your psychological and perhaps even physical well-being. Most research in this field has been done in the workplace. There is evidence that people whose lives or jobs make high demands on them but allow little sense of control have higher rates of many diseases. Perhaps the same principle also applies to leisure-time satisfaction and stress.

TAKE CONTROL OF YOUR FREE TIME

If you always feel too busy and rushed, and this makes you unhappy, evaluate how you spend your free time. For instance, though there's still much debate about the impact of excessive television viewing, try to cut down on TV.

Look into some of the new work arrangements that may be available, especially at some larger companies, such as flexible work time (for instance, come in earlier and leave earlier). Several studies have found that such flexible arrangements give people a greater sense of autonomy, help reduce stress, and increase work satisfaction. An employer may allow employees who work extra hours to bank their time for longer vacations or three-day weekends. This may mean giving up overtime pay, but may be worth it.

Finally, consider some form of volunteer work: research suggests that by helping others you may enhance your sense of self-worth, reduce depression, and perhaps even improve your health.

Auto club shines

Bob and Gerry Lee's gleaming black and yellow 1929 DeSoto Roadster was voted the People's Choice at last Saturday's Fifth Annual Elk Point Auto Club Show and Shine, which exhibited thirty memorable vehicles, from a 1903 Model A Ford to a brand new modified pulling tractor, to a sizeable crowd of viewers.

The People's Choice trophy was presented in memory of the late Art Southworth, who showed his Rolls Royce at an earlier Elk Point Auto Club Show.

The Lees' DeSoto also earned them the Dan's Auto Body trophy for first place in the Antique category, with second place going to the four-year-newer perennial favorite 1933 Ford coupe owned by Larry and Lillian Demchuk. Ready Gun Works donated the second place trophy.

The 1903 Model A, the pride and joy of Steve Andrishak, won that gentleman the Oldest Vehicle trophy donated by Ken and Holly Astill. It was the winner by more than a quarter century, the nearest opposition being Lee's DeSoto and a 1929 Essex exhibited by Don Maltais of St. Paul. The pulling tractor, long, sleek and ready for competition, was shown by Ireland Farm Equipment in Vermilion.

Glossy paint jobs and glittering chrome prevailed on the '50s and '60s muscle cars that dominated the trophy winners. Gunther and Jeanne May's dark burgundy '57 Chevy was a repeat prize winner, taking first in the Show category for a trophy from Woody's Trophy and Gifts. Barry and Jeannette Brown's '69 Mustang with snowy white vinyl roof placed second for a trophy from Lefebvre Construction.

Larry Hines showed a lipstick red 1960 Chevy Impala with red and white striped upholstery to win first in the Convertibles category, and a trophy from Elk Point Insurance. Another Chevy, this time a white '65 model owned by Doug Hill of Vegreville, won second place for a trophy from Ken and Holly Astill.

A nostalgic lilac and black '57 Mercury Montcalm hardtop won first place in the Stock category for Murray Dando of Bonnyville, with a trophy from Elk Point Esso. Second in the Stock category, with a mystery trophy donor, went to a burnt orange '68 Camaro brought all the way from Paynton, Saskatchewan by R.F.Meyenberg.

Vintage vehicles also won the Modified and Truck categories. In the former, a '69 Dodge Charger Daytona took the trophy presented by Northern Valley Store for Jim Andrishak, while one of the newer vehicles in the show, a 1980 GMC pickup, won second prize from Westside Muffler, Bonnyville, for Maurice Lessard, also of Bonnyville. The Truck category was won by Bob Lawton of Ashmont, with a glossy midnight blue '57 Ford earning him the Quality Tools trophy. The B & D Industrial trophy for second place went to Gary Algot's 1980 IHC Scout pickup.

The Farthest Travelled trophy went to Jim Andrishak, who drove his '57 Chevy all the way from Drayton Valley. This trophy was also donated by Ken and Holly Astill, whose 1975 Bricklin was again one of the most unique vehicles in the show.

Elk Point Auto Club draw winners were Bob Lawton of Ashmont and Don Whiting of Lloydminster. Whiting also won the Fort George - Buckingham House prize draw.

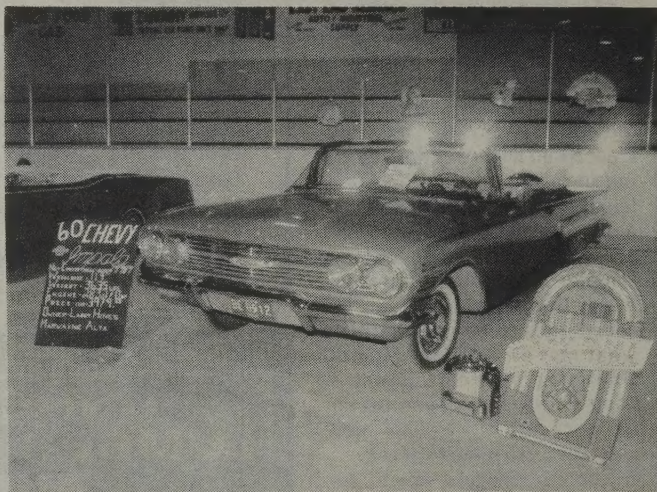

This year's show was enhanced by a display of nineteen remote control aeroplanes from the Elk Point R /
